Hill and Major McKinley Ride on

WOOSTER, O., October 22 .- Governor Hill left Canton for Wooster this morning. At Massillion, Major McKinley, who was on his way to Smithville, boarded the train, and John G. Warwick, McKinley's democratic opponent in this congressional district, who was sitting in company with the governor, gracefully arose and surrendered his seat to the major, who chatted with the governor until he reached his destination.

On arriving at Wooster an immense throng crowded the station. Governor Hill addressed a monster open air mass meeting of 8,000 pecple this afternoon. Governor Hill commenced of the masses against this pernicious legislaion.

Your district is a great wheat and pork producing country. Ask Mr. Blaine when he speaks here what he meant when he said there was not a line in the McKinley tariff law which opens up a new market for wheat and pork. The democratic party holds that wider markets are necessary-to the prosperity of the farmers. I oppose the election of William McKinley, among reasons, because he voted for and advocated the infamons force bill. That measure imperfis the very existence of constitutional government in this country and the best interests of the, people demand its defeat. It is a scheme devised to perpetuate the political power of the republican party.
The enforcement of such a measure would require millions of dollars from the public treasury; would foist upon the people a horde of federal officials, not elected by the citizens, but appointed by judges, who hold their positions for life, and would endanger the peace and good order of communities without affording the slightest protection to a single elector. There has nothing taken place in any part of the south to justify the doubtful power of congress to regulate our elections.

GEORGIA'S RAILROAD LAW

Alabama.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., October 22.—[Special.]
The officers of the Farmer's Alliance of Alabama held a meeting tonight which was largely devoted to a discussion of the state laws governing railroads and the power of the railroad commission. A comparison of freight rates on several roads was made with the rates in Geography and the rates in this state ways. in Georgia and the rates in this state were found to be higher. It was the sentiment of the meeting that Alabama should have a railroad law similar to the one in Georgia, and that the powers of the commissioners should be enlarged. be enlarged. A committee was appointed to prepare a bill making the desired changes, which will be submitted to the next legislature for passage.

nas nothing taken place in any part of the south to justify the doubtful power of congress to regulate our elections.

Federal supervisors in every election district, strangers to the people—vested with authority to override the certificates of local officials and governments of states, constitute the frame work of the proposed iniquity. The sacred right of representation is made to depend upon the integrity of partisan officers having no responsibility to the people. The tendency of such legislation would be to provoke a conflict between federal and *tate officials, and race prejudices would be engendered at the south. This force bill is a vicious attack upon the republican form of government and ought not to prevait.

In conversation with Major McKinley on the train today, he told me it was the intention of the present republican congress to pass the force bill before its expiration, no matter which northy was train today, he told me it was the intention of the present republican congress to pass the force bill before its expiration, no matter which party was successful in the coming congressional elections. If they do not carry the next election, you can rest assured they will not pass the bill.

After the governor had finished his speech, in view of the fact that people on the outskirts of the crowd had been unable to hear him, and that many who were at their daily labor also desired to hear him, he consented to remain until tonight, when he addressed 1,500 people, who taxed the utmost capacity of the village opera house.

The governor's remarks were mainly a review of the tariff question and the legislation and doings of congress. DETROIT, Mich., October 22.—At last even-ing's session of the city council there was con-siderable controversy between the democrats and republicans as to the appointment of an election board, chairmen and other matters permining to the coming election. No. 5 leaves Cincinnati at 8 o'clock p. m.; another passenger train leaves Cincinnati an hour earlier. Both these were held at Somerset, Ky., two hours or more, on scount of a freight wreck which occurred south of that place last night. When the started out from Somerset first and met and distance behind it the fated No. 5 started out. Freight train No. 22 north-bound was side-tracked at Sloan's valley. When the first Cincinnati train passed south, the crew of the freight appeared to have overlooked the fact that No. 8 was to follow, and they pulled out and started northward. Less than a quarter of a mile away they entered the unnel, which is one-sixth of a mile long.

In the most hopeless place that the trainmen ever meet death, the engines of the two trains dashed into each other and the cars following jammed into each other in a mass. Then came the added horror of conflagration. Then came the added horror of conflagration.
Only the bare results have been telegraphed to

Firemen Gould and Wolch, Brakeman John E. Montgomery, Express Messenger Edward Ruffner and mail agent were killed. Engineer Taylor, of passenger train, and Pimlott, of the freight train, were badly burned. A baggage master was killed. If any passengers are injured their names are not yet ascertained.

The burning of the train in the tunnel renders it impossible to clear the track as readily as it could be done on open ground, the smoke and heat preventing men from entering Transfers will be made until the tunnel can be cleared. There were two mail agents on the train-J. F. Gayle and C. F. Dolgan. Which one of them is killed is not yet known. Ed Ruffner, messenger of the United States Ex-press Company, killed, was a married man, living at Bond Hill, near this city.

CAUSE OF THE COLLISION. CAUSE OF THE COLLISION.

The initial cause of the collision was the wreck which occurred last night at Eithu station, two miles below Somerset. A mixed train was stopping to leave a car, and had not yet got into motion when the freight came up in the rear and struck the rear car, causing a serious wreck. Young Mr. Payne, a commercial traveler for the firm of Pierson & Clark, Lexington, Ky, had both legs crushed and has since died.

His name is not given, but he has been removed to Somerset. The two engi-neers, Taylor and Pimlott, are now reported as not fatally injured. Engineer John Pimlott died this afternoon, making six victims of the tunnel collision on the Circinati Southern railway.

RINGING IN THE INJURED.

The first train on the Cincinnati, New Orleans and Texas Pacific railway bringing eyewitnesses of the scene of the train collision of this morning in the tunnel, arrived here after 10 o'clock tonight. It brought two of the victims home mangled, but still alive. They were J. P. Gagle, postal clerk, and George Long, baggage master, both of the passenger train. The best tory of the accident and attendant scenes is told by J. D. Brenner, messenger of the United States Express Company, who came in on the train which arrived after 10 o'clock tonight. Brenner's story is that the freight wreck last night at Elihu, two miles south of Somerset, Ky., kept back the southbound passenger trains Nos. 9 and 3, for over two hours at Somerset and caused the northbound freight train, No. 22, to make a long wait at Sloan's Valley station, a few hundred yards south of the fatal tunnel, which is known as tunnel No. 5. BRINGING IN THE INJURED.

HOW THE ACCIDENT HAPPENED. Instructions to train No. 22 was to wait at Instructions to train No. 22 was to wait at Sloan's Valley till passenger trains Nos. 9 and 5 had passed.

Their wait was a long one. The crew of No. 22 all went to sleep. John Pimlott, engineer, waked in time to see that passenger train No. 9 had just gone by. He assumed it was No. 5, and deeming the road clear, went on. Tunnel No. 5 is lined with wood and is about 900 feet long. Its north entrance is curved, and the north approach to it is one of the steepest grades on the road, and it is also curved.

Down this steep grade thundered the fated grades on the road, and it is also curved.

Down this steep grade thundered the fated passenger train, No. 5, with its train of five cars and fifty passengers. First after the locomotive was a mail car, next a combined express and baggage car; then in succession the smoker, ladies' car and the Pullman sleeper.

Within a hundred feet of the mouth of the tunnel the crash came. The Pullman car of the passenger train was outside the tunnel. the passenger train was outside the tunnel. Only the Pullman and ladies' car were saved, Only the Fullman and ladies car were savel, the passengers and trainmen pushing them, back up the track. A few of the freight cars were detached and rolled out down grade through the south end of the tunne. All the others were destroyed, and several bodies were burned to ashes in that fiery furnace.

THE TUNNEL ON FIRE. The flames started in a few minutes after the collision, and the woodwork of the tunnel caught fire and is making the night lurid at this writing. The list of dead and injured has been given already in these dispatches, and nothing more is known here at this time on that score.

There is a story of heroism that has not been told. The hero's name Express Messenger Brenner had forgotten, but he was till recently station agent of the railway at Somerset, Ky. Well, this brave man heard the cries of George Long in the baggage car. Seizing an ax, he cut a hole in the side of the car and drew him out into the express compartment of the same car. The voice of Buffner, messenger of the United States Express Company, was heard. Our hero, scorched with the expresshing flames, cut a hole in the side of the car. Euf-ner was walking about, but in a death prison. The brave rescuer, willing to sacrifice his own life in the effort to save another, kept on cutting away, his own clothing being singed by the fire, the hot air consuming his strength and his blows growing feebler at every stroke.

A DYING MAN'S REQUEST.

Ruffner, doomed in this prison, shouted to him:

him:
"Go away! Save yourself while you can,
I am Ed P. Ruffner, of Cincinnati. My home is 410 West Fourth street. Go and tell my family goodbye. Tell them that you did all that a man could to save my life. Now don't stay here a second longer. Go, or you will burn up with the rest of us." The unnamed hero staggered out, and reaching the open air, fell down a pharsate,

Townley and Walter Townley, of Townley, Ala., slightly hurt; Miss Sallie Langdon, Callaway, face bruised; William Williams, Carbon Hill, bruised; Mrs. Foster, wife of railroad agent at Sulligent, slightly hurt, and a boy, name unknown, slightly injured.

The collision occurred in this manner:
The Kansas City passenger tra'n, due to leave at 9 o'clock p. m., was an hour late, owing to a wait for a Georgia Pacific train. The sleeper for the Kansas City train had not been attached, but when the Georgia Pacific train arrived, the station masters signaled the Kansas City train to get out of the way. The conductor of the Kansas City train was on the sleeper, but Engineer John Russell, of the Kansas City train, understood the station master's signal to go ahead and pulled out for Memphis. Hearrived Young Mr. Payne, a commercial traveler for the firm of Pierson & Clark, Lexington, Ky, had both legs crushed and has since died.

The delay to the passenger trains ly this wreck caused the mistake of the engineer and conductor of the freight train. No. 22, by which the tunnel collision occurred.

Fortunately the passenger train had not entirely gone into the tunnel when the cases came, and so the three sleepers which did not leave the track served as a means of escape of the passengers. These sleepers were detached and drawn away from the burning train, but the baggage car, mail car and two coaches were burned. At 11 o'clock today heat and smoke prevented anything being done to clear the tunnel. General Manager Carr left by this morning's train for the scene and will personally direct whatever is necessary to be done.

FIRE IN MOBILE.

A Disastrous Conflagration, With Narrow Mobile, Ala., October 22.—[Special.]—The freight depot of the Mobile and Birmingham railway was totally destroyed by fire today. Loss, $10,000 on building. The fire was caused by a defective hearth in the freight clerk's office. Fifty quarter kegs of powder exploded, blowing out the brick walls, two carloads of Jute bagging and seventy-nine rolls of white paper consigned to The Register were destroyed, also some spindry freight. The wind was blowing quite a gale from the south, and the flames spread rapidly. Sev-Escapes. The wind was blowing quite a gale from the south, and the flames spread rapidly. ANOTHER RACE WON. THE GLADSTONIANS SCORE A BIG

AND GAIN A SEAT IN COMMONS.

The Conservatives Feel Very Sore Over Their Defeat, But Attribute it to the Eight-Hour Movement.

LONDON, October 22 .- The parliamentary election in Eccles division of Lancashire to-day resulted in a victory for the Gladstonians. Roby, liberal candidate, received 4,901 votes, and Egerton, conservative, 4,696. In the preceding election the liberal candidate received 3,985 and the conservative 4,277.

WHAT THE PRESS SAYS. LONDON, October 23 .- The News says that the result of the Eccles election will make the demand for a dissolution of parliament louder than ever.

The Chronicle says the election was fought n the eight-hour and not on the Irish question, and that the result is a great triumph The Post says that when the real moment for a national decision is reached the double issue by which Eccles was won will be a very small item in the general result.

The Times admits that the result was due to the return of Gladstonians to their alle-giance, coupled with Roby's acceptance of the eight-heur and tectotal vote. The Standard says:

It is futile to deny that the result of the Eccles election disappoints the unionists. We regret that, although the conservatives maintained their ground, they failed to emulate the Gladstonians in securing new votes.

"While the government joyfully welcomes all efforts in the direction of providing improved dwellings for the workingmen, it must, on principle, decline to assist building companies from the coffers of the state, especially as it is confident that there is sufficient capital and public spirit in Berlin to form companies which will be content with moderate profits."

The socialists talk of forming a bureau to inquire into the circumstances of the workingmen. It is said that Herr Bebel will be presiden of the bureau.

The French Tariff.

PARIS, October 22.—The new tariff bill will be issued to the deputies on Saturday. Flax and hemp are made free from duty. Agricultural products are placed in the two categories, the first consisting of cereals, live stock and meat, and going under the maximum tariff, implying that they cannot be included in any treaty, all other products going under the minimum tariff and being available for treaty purposes. Several deputies intend to demand the suppression of the minimum category. category.

Where do the infidels come from, if not from that class of men who were taught to take everything in religion as faith? What makes the atheist, the agnostic and skeptie? It is the clurch that denounced doubt and free thought. It is those denountations who present God as a vengeful, cruef tyrant. It is the religious teacher who thunders in your ears the wrath of the Almighty and the terrors of an angry hell.

It seems to me that if I had no other God to look up to except to a God of hate and malice; if I should think that the being who rules the world was that horrid monster who out-Herods Herod, who danns innocent babes before they are born, who punishes the helpless, ignorant heathen, who has created a devil to torment men, and paves hell with the skulls of infants; if this was the God that I had to worship, I should glady turn to the gods of Greece and Kome and serve them.

DOUGHERTY'S TAXABLE PROPERTY. An Increase of Over Three Hundred Thousand Dollars in One Year. ALBANY, Ga., October 22 .- [Special.]-The taxable property of Dougherty county by the returns for 1890 are $3,332,991; showing an increase of over $300,000 above those of last year. The state and county tax is 1 per cent. The bends for the purchase of the free bridge over Flint river to be paid this year are $3,090, being $100 less than last year's bonds paid, showing the rapid decrease of this indebtedness. The amount required to be raised this year, including the above, is $19,754.93. But small proportion of the taxes for 1890 have been collected as yet. The stocks of merchandise in the city of Albany are very small, as are those in the small towns adjoining. A drug firm comes to the front with the largest stock, one dealer giving in $33,000. The next largest stock is given in by a dealer in general meachandise at $22,000. A drug firm comes third with $17,000, and a haberdasher with $14,000. The next is a stock of general merchandise at $12,500, and so on down the list to the small stock of $2,000 and less, showing that there were no immens stocks in the stores on the 1st of April. BLUE RIDGE, Ga , October 22 .- [Special.]-Winn and Darnell met today in Morganton, and opened the joint discussion in a speech of

Colonel Winn was introduced as the democratic nominee by Hon. Carter Tate. He made a telling speech. From the very beginning he had the attention of his audience, and held it to the end.

Mr. Winn, by agreement of their respective committees, had the opening and closing speech. His first speech was forty-five minutes. He discussed the tariff and financial questions in a way that had the effect to secure him the votes of the old farmers, and especially the members of the alliance, both democrats and republicans. He pictured to them the great burdens placed upon them by a high tariff, and the financial legisla-tion of the republican party. Mr. Winn did not try to gain the crowd, especially the boys, by anecdotes and variations, but he gave to the farmers and voters his idea of a good government for the people and by the people, and not one run by a few manufacturing kings and millionaires. He told the people of the extravagance of the party in force, and said he favored less legislation and a more economical expenditure of the public funds.

His speech, throughout the first forty-five minutes, was listened to very attentively, by both parties, and many that heretofore were undecided have openly said that they were for

COL. DARNELL'S REPLY.

Col. Darnell, the republican nominee, was also introduced by Honorable Carter Tate, by the request of Judge Boon Crawford, the United States commissioner at Morganton

Colonel Darnell's reply was principally on the attack on the farmer's alliance, mixed with anecdotes and boasting of his union soldier wearing the He said he never expected to see the day when he would not rejoice in his having worn the blue, and fighting for the union. He said that Charles Brand and Carter Tate were supporting Winn, while Winn was the farmers' candidate. Colonel Darnell spoke for an hour, and had the attention of both parties.

MR. WINN'S REJOINDER.

Mr. Winn, in reply, said that he had no apology to make for being a farmer or an alliauce man; that it was through the support of the farmers that he was honored with the democratic nomination for congress in district, and through their sup-he expected to be elected by a big majority in November, and that he was not ashamed to own that he made his living by tilling the soil and living on a farm; that his interest was with the farmers and had been for years, and that. Charles Brand and Carter Tate were his friends and supporters, and he was their friend, Turning to Carter Tate and Judge Boon Crawford, who was keeping time for him, and Darnell, he said:

"Yes, such men as Brand and Tate are sup porting me, while revenue officers like Crawford are supporting Darnell." Mr. Darnell failed to meet the argument of

Mr. Winn concerning the financial policy of party, while his attack upon alliance made Winn voters. IT WAS A TELLING SPEECH.
Mr. Winn made a voto-telling speech, and when the final count comes he will carry this

Colonel Winn's friends are especially jubiant over today's debate. One old farmer said after the speaking to Colonel Winn: "You will carry this county, and you need not doubt that." Groups of others were seen talking and telling the advantages Colonel Winn had gotten today. Many of the democrats who had not heard Winn before, say they are more than pleased with his ability, and they are stronger for him now than ever.

There was quite a good crowd out to hear the speaking, despite the rainy day. Not an unpleasant word was spoken by either candidates, but each did the best he could for his party, and made no personal abuse on the other. throughout was a high-toned one, and each one seemed to be in a good humor. Colonel Winn showed the blackness of the reports circulated by Pickett and his friends, concerning his being backward in leading his men to the front, by affidavits of as good men as there are in this country. Winn will carry this county. IN THE NINTH DISTRICT.

The Gwinnett Herald on the Duty of the ₹ LAWRENCEVILLE, Ga., October 22.— [Special.]—The Gwinnett Herald came out vesterday in no uncertain manner and with no uncertain sound in reference to the duty of democrats in the present congressional race. It takes the position, first, that every allianceman in the district should give Winn his active support, as he is the alliance choice; second, that every democrat should support and vote for him because the democratic party has made him its standard bearer; third, he should have every democratic vote because Winn is a sound and safe democrat, and fourth, because to vote for Pickett is to vote for disorganization of the democratic party, and to elect him would be a repetition of the Emory Speer programme.

THE ATTACKS ON WINN. All manner of charges are being circulated for the purpose of injuring Colonel Winn in his present race for congress. In order to get the negro votes from Winn, many of whom in his own county, if left to act free, would vote for him, they are charging, first, that the alli-ance was formed to re-enslave the negroes and therefore they ought not to support him; second, that no one but alliancemen will be allowed to vote for him; third, that if they don't vote for Pickett or Darnell they will lose their homes; fourth, one fellow, a Pickett man, who can't read very well went to a negro association last Sunday with one of Winn's campaign documents wherein the words, "Jeffersonian democrats" are used and he was showing and insisting to them that Winn was saying he was a "Jeff Davis" democrat. This man told your correspondent that he did do this, but that some one had told him that was the way it read.

was the way it read.

Others are charging that he was a secessionist, and, therefore, they ought not to vote for him, and while it is reported that there were a few such in the post, as a matter of fact, Tom Winn was not.

Still others charge that Darnell is running just for fun, and in order to beat Pickett, and that Winn and Darnell are simply carrying out a covenant to that effect. While all of these charges appear to be absurd and ridiculous, yet with the negroes, in the present race, they are more or less formidable arguments. No one charges Pickett as being responsible for these reports, but they are being circulated all the same.

GEORGE T. PAYNE,

WHO IS TO BE THE NEW STATE

to Make Mr. Payne the Successor of MACON, Ga., Octoberl 22 .- [Special.]-THE that Hon. R. T. Nisbett, the newly elected

chemist, the position now held by Professor H. C. White of the State university, asked Mr. Payne if the report was true, and that gen tlemen said it was. He was somewhat reluctant to talk, as no official notice has yet been given by Commissioner-elect Nisbett, who will not enter the commissioner's 'office until next month. Being pressed, however, Mr. Payne said that in response to the invitation of Commissioner-elect Nisbett, he had been to Atlanta, and was informed in person by Commissioner Nisbett of his intention to appoint him. While in Atlanta Mr. Payne selected his office in the capitol, and will have permanent headquarters

Mr. Payne was very highly endorsed for the position by many of the most influential citizens, pharmacists and chemists of Georgia. He was also endorsed by the School of Mines, at Columbia college, and the New York College of Pharmacy, at both of which institutions he graduated with high honors. Mr. Payne has actively pursued the practice of chemistry about seventeen years. He has a fine laboratory in Macon, and his services have been frequently engaged by persons outside of the state on difficult analysis. He is well versed in the science and will render Georgia and her people most valuable and faithful services. Commissioner Nisbett could not possibly have made a better appointment. Mr. Payne is the son of Macon's well-known druggist, Dr. Payne, who, in life, was highly esteemed by the people of Macon. He was the first registered druggist in Georgia. George, who had been with his brother in the drug business, succeeded him after death, and is now the senior of the drug firm of Payne & King. He was born in Macon about thirty-seven years ago. He stands high in the estimation of everyone here as a perfect gentleman and a skilled chemist. He is a man of splendid character. He married a daughter of Colonel J. H. Nichols, of Nacoochee.

Mr. Payne will remove to Atlanta, but will his drug store interest He intends to devote his Macon. entire time to the discharge of the duties of the office of state chemist. He is an enthusiast in whatever work he engages, and the state will profit by his labors.

The salary of the state chemist is $3,000 per annum. There were a large number of applicants for the position.

FROM OUR NOTEBOOKS.

Among Home Folks.—Mr. B. F. Cooper, an ex-Atlantian, now a leading business man of Orlando, Fla., is visiting friends in the city during the ex-peritor.

He Caught His Man.—Detective Bill Jones was in the city for a few hours yesterday, having just returned from a trip to Mexico, where he went in quest of a forger—Henry J. Grayson—who is wanted in North Carolina on several counts. He found his man in Saltillo, caged him, and returned for the necessary papers. He starts back to Mexico for his prisoner today. The Youngest Veteran.—The statement that Private Hamilton was the youngest confederate veteran of the Fulton County Association, which appeared in yesterday's Constitution, caused a good deal of talk yesterday.

Judge Robert L. Rodgers claims priority over

Mr. Hamilton, from the fact that the latter was born in March and the former in July, 1847. Judge Rodgers was a cadet at the Georgia Mili-tary institute, and leaving there entered the service in 1864, just before he was seventeen years of age. So it follows that the historian of the Fulton County Confederate Veterans' Association is the youngest man, by a few months, who has reported so far, as a member of the association,

In the absence of the other officers of the company Color Sergeant A. N. Cox drilled the company, and the drill was conducted in regular West Point style. On account of the inclemency of the weather Major W. A. Hemphili was unable to be present, and neither were Cap-tain King nor Lieutenant Landrum.

The company were met at their armory this evening at 7:30 o'clock, and from there marched in a body to Veterans' hall where uniforms, guns and ammunition will be distributed to the company for use in the sham battle.

A South Georgia Candidate.-Mr. R. L. Panlk, of Irwin county, is a candidate for messenger of the senate. He has many friends in that section of the state to support his candidacy, and would make a good officer if elected.

He Accepted the Invitation .- Last night Sergeant Curtright, of the police force, while passing along Alabama street, noticed a very woe-begone specimen of humanity huddled up in a dark stair-literally chewed up. There were sundry bandages about the said cranium, but they only served to heighten his general aspect of cussedness. Approaching near him the sergeant inquired where he had got that head.

With a superabundance of hyphenated hiccoughs the stairway lodger replied:
"S-z-z-z jes' this way. Both of us tailors." "Both tailors, eh?"

THE FOURTH DISTRICT

AN APPEAL FOR DEMOCRATIC ACTIVITY IN THE CAMPAIGN.

Chairman McLaughlin Appeals to the mocracy of the District to Be on the Alert—An Interesting Talk.

GREENEVILLE, Ga., October 22.-[Special.] The following appeal to the dethe fourth congressional district, by the chairman, B. F. McLaughlin, the papers of the district are earnestly requested to

To the Democracy of the Fourth Congressional District: The state election is over, and much feeling has been manifested in some counties, but really it was a canvass between men of the same party, and there was not much involved except party, and there was not much involved except personal preference.

But now another election is near at hand—one in which much is involved, not of personalism, but of principle; measures, not men.
Questions of material importance are before us. Particularly is the south interested, and it behoves every democrat to see to it that every democratic to tee is polled for the democratic nominee in November, and that the Hon. C. L. Moses, nominee in the fourth congressional district, be elected to the fifty-second congress by such an overwhelming majority that the republicans cannot, and Boss Reed dare not, turn him out in case of a contest, even though the next house should be republi-

Fellow-countrymen, raily to the support of your democratic standard bearer, the nominee of your party. Maintain the principles handed down to as from the foundation of our free government. Rally to your and your country's interest, reflect upon the infamous measures already put upon us by the republicans, and the still more put upon us by the republicans, and the still more infamous ones likely to be, unless the next house should have enough democrats to prevent it. The scenes just after the late war are likely to be re-enacted if the Lodge bill is passed.

Millions of your hard-carned money is paid out to pension northern people, but not $1$ to the south. Lay aside your prejudices and any personal feeling in the matter and support your nominee by an active interest in his behalf. You may have preferred and supported some one else in your primary election and feel sore because your man was not nominated, but remember what the result is likely to be if you do not come squarely up and support the nominee, and induce others to do so.

Our enough are rest tille, but eating. To the property of the part of the pa op and support the nominee, and induce others to do so.

Our enemies are not idle, but active. Let us be vigilant and more than ready to meet them.

Let every executive committeeman in each county be wide awake to his duty. You are selected for this purpose and I do not believe you will fail. Let every newspaper in the fourth congressional district speak out. Do not be silent, but urge upon the people the importance of a full vote. Democratic success means a free and honest government; republican success means anything but an honest government.

It means oppression of the people for the benefit of a few already rich; it means fraud and corruption; and last but not least, that the hallot box shall be controlled by the worst element of the republican party, protected by United States beyonets.

IMPROVEMENTS AT AMERICUS.

The Central Railroad Preparing to Do

Large Business. AMERICUS, Ga., October 19 .- [Special.]-The Central railroad management seem at least to have one eye open to the im of their business at Americus and its large prospective growth, and the recent visit of several high officials has done much to enlarge the scope of the projected improvements. large the scope of the projected improvements. Yesterday Mr. Jay, the contractor who is to build the new passenger station, received a telegram from the superintendent of maintenance of way to stop at once all work on the building as radical alterations in the entire plans would be made. From a railroad man who has seen the drawings which are to be sent here, the information is derived that the large improvements and yard facilities will necessitate the removal of the present freight depot, which Traffic Manager Shellman pronounced one-fifth large enough, and the location of a new and larger one, some 200 feet back from the present tracks and upon feet back from the present tracks and upon the brow of the hill now known as Central the brow of the hill now known as Central park, the intervening space to be filled with new tracks and to be used as a yard.

The location of the passenger station is now an open question in view of these changes, but it also must probably set, else it would be in the midst of the freightyard. The management will now build such freight depot and passenger and office accommodation as America needs, for they have fully awoke to the fact that America is the fifth place reached. fact that Americus is the fifth place reached by the Central system in the volu ness done, having passed Columbus this s and now ranking near to Macon in both pas-passenger and freight business.

In view of this fact, and the further fact that Americus is growing more rapidly than any city in Georgia except Atlanta, it is now reasonably sure that the Central railroad will not stop short of such passenger and freight facilities as Macon now possesses, because there is no ground to doubt that in the next ten years Americus will have a population of 16,000 to 20,000, and the Central business ten

Dry Goods, Carpets, Furniture and Shoes!

COME THIS WEEK.

IN DRESS GOODS

We, as usual, lead the van, and have never had such trade. Our prices are in reach of all true economical buyers. The goods are first-class and of latest styles. Everything is guaranteed as recommended, and one price to all.

IN TABLE LINENS.

We firmly believe that you can buy from us today at more reasonable prices than you could possibly from any importing retail house in the land, because we have our goods all purchased before the rise on account of the McKinley bill, and we have not and will not change the prices. It will pay to see our imported dinner sets cloths, 20 feet long, with full size napkins to match. Our Towel stock is as near perfect as we know how to make it and we advise all who desire nice goods to examine and price with us.

BLANKETS AND COMFORTS.

We have never been so well supplied—we have all prices from a mixed color 10x4 to the finest 12x4 lamb's wool with silk binding. Our Eider Down Comforts are exceedingly popular, and we now have quite a variety in prices. Ladies', Gents' and Children's Underwear.

We are making a specialty for ladies of Warner's Health Underwear in combined suits and Ladies' and Misses' Cloaks and Furs.

We invite the strongest competition in this as in all other departments. See the immense stock and you will have no trouble in making selections.

TO BE GIVEN AWAY. We have on exhibition at the store the fine $100 Moquet and the $50 Brussels Carpets to be given by us at the exposition as special premiums to ladies for best and second best displays of pickels and preserves. Also the $150 and $50 suites of fine Furniture for best and second best needle work, and the $75 Silk Dress, second prize to be $25 in cash, for best and second best paintings.

EVERY LADY FEELS INTERESTED,

And we invite all, and especially visitors, to call at our store and examine the beautiful goods. They are on exhibition for that purpose. Don't feel that you will be importuned or even expected to buy goods, for you will not. We are anxious for all the ladies and men, too, to see the goods that will go into the homes of those, who by energy, perseverance and capacity, will be fortunate enough to win them.

FOUR PERSONS KILLED

THEY WERE RIDING ACROSS THE RAILROAD TRACK

In a Covered Wagon, When the Train Came Upon Them and Dashed Them to Death-A Tragic Scene.

ROME, Ga., October 22 .- [Special.]-A terrible accident occurred on the line of the Chattanoega, Rome and Columbus railroad this morning. Four people were killed, three of them instantly. The other one died after-

HOW IT HAPPENED. The southbound passenger train left Chattanooga on time this morning, and was running at a moderate rate of speed. It was approaching a station formerly used by the road called Chicamauga, about ten miles this side of Chattanooga. The engineer blew his whistle for the cross road. It was down grade, and as the train dashed out of a cut, a covered wagon was approaching the railroad to cross. The engine struck the wagon and killed the man, his wife and his little baby; the other person killed was a woman. From neighbors who live near the accident it was learned that they hallooed, and did their best to stop the wagon, but it was all in vain. It was a covered wagon, and the inmates were seeking refuge from the rain. The neighbors could not attract their attention, and the wagoners drove on the track, and hardly knew what struck them. The passengers rendered kind assistance, getting out in the storm that was raging, in caring for the dead and the wounded. The persons killed were country people, living in Walker county, and were: J. W. Jenkins, Mrs. J. W. Jenkins and child, and Mrs. James Bowman.

The mules escaped unhurt, but the wagon was totally demolished, being under the wheels and breaking the air breaks of the en-gine, delaying the train. Engineer Trozier was running the engine, and he is almost frantic with grief. He is considered one of the safest engineers on the road, and the people all exhonorated him from fault.

AT THE THEATER.

An ovation it was-one that deserved the name And it was an ovation that was most fit and appropriate. Seldom in the history of Mr. DeGive's theater has that building held as many people as were there last night to greet that genius and great fa-vorite, Sol Smith Russell. "Standing room only" was the sign when the doors opened, for every seat in parquette and parquette circle and almost every one in the balcony was sold at Miller's several hours before the hour of the perforance. But still the people came. Standing room was at a nium and many who came, learning that Mr Russell could be seen this afternoon and tonight turned away hoping to have better luck today. Russell was at his best. There is nothing on the American stage superior to his creation of the impeeunious inventor, Noah Vale. It ranks with the best efforts of the best actors we have had—with Mr. Booth's "Hamlet" or Mr. Jefierson's "Rip Van Winkle." Mr. Kidder's play is a prose poem in which are commingled, as in life itself, humor and pathos; and the character he has made for Mr. Russell—it would be nearer the truth to say the character Mr. Russell has made for himself-

No description of the play is necessary. Poor Relation" has been seen here before; but even had it not, no description could do it justice. As heretofore, Mr. Russell's support is superb. Miss Merri Osborne has in Scollops a romping soubrette part in which she is captivating: Mr. Hudson, Mr. Tannehill, Mr. Lawten and Mr. Andson, Mr. Tannenil, Mr. Layten and Mr. Sulfivan are remembered for their good work. Miss Owen is sweet and pretty as Dolly Faye. Miss Barker and Miss Deitz aid in, preserving, the perfect unities; and the little ones, Master Hudson and Little Hazel Chapple win their way to every heart.

As a whole, there is certainly nothing better than Russell in "A Poor Relation." It is elevating in its effect on the stage and it elevates humanity by making better men and better women of all cr us who see and feel its beauties.

After the first act there were loud calls for Mr. After the first act there were loud calls for Afr. Russell, and in his happiest vein he made response. He recalled the days when he first knew Atlanta, twenty-one years ago, when both he and the city were younger than now. He spoke of the growth of the city and of its strength; I thought of his growth in his art and of the high plane upon which his life-work is cast. Looking back upon that his, work I, anynot help thinking that. Sol that life-work, I cannot help thinking that Sol Smith Russell has added something to the world's

He has used his talent well.
"A Peor Relation" will be repeated at matinee today. Tenight Mr. Russell will be seen in his afwully funny comedy, "Bewitched."

Fred Warde and Mrs. Bowers. Frederick Warde has been before the American public as a stellar attraction in the classic drama for a period of over ten years. It is only lately for a period of over ten years. It is only intery, however, that he has made for himself important money. He has always adhered to his fixed policy of presenting only the works of the masters in play-writing, despite strong monetary inducements to abandon the high place he strove to establish the strong to th tablish for that of modern melo-drama, but, not-withstanding the great temptation such financial gain would have been to him, he followed his own inclination, and, backed by the good advice and Inclination, and, backed by the good advice and wishes of his many eridute friends, maintained the firm hold he had upon intelligent theater-goers and increased it by renewed efforts and study. Today Frederick Warde is one of the best paying stars in the country and he has accumulated considerable wealth. Robert Mantell.

The talented young actor, Robert Mantell, will appear at DeGive's opera house on Wednesday and Thursday evenings next, October 29th and and Thursday evenings next, October 23th and 30th, in two of his most successful plays, "Monbars" and "The Corsican Brothers." In the first named play, Mr. Mantell was seen here two years years ago, and his performance of the title role gave universal satisfaction. He will present "Monbars" on Wednesday evening and at the "Monbars" on Wednesday evening and at the Thursday matinee. On Thursday evening this painstaking actor will appear here for the first time as Louis and Fabrien del Franchi, in a magnificent spectacular revival of Alexander Dumas s famous heroic drama, "The Corsican Brothers. Mr. Mantell's success in this play has been only second to that achieved in "Monbars," and his dual interpretation of the twin brothers, del Franchi, has been warmly commended by many of our ablest dramatic writers.

The Legislators and Alliancemen, However, Flock Into the City-Governor Brown Today.

Macon, Ga., October 22.—[Special.]—The state fair opened today under great disadvantages, owing to the very heavy rains that prevailed last night and all day. The floods na rally kept the people away from Central City park, where the exhibition is being held. But for the rains the opening would have been a grand success. A large number of visitors are in the city, and the people continue to arrive on every train, but they prefer to remain up town in the hotels instead of wading through mud and water about the park. weather clears, the attendance will be the largest ever known in the history of the society.

All the exhibition buildings are full to overflowing with magnificent exhibits of all kinds There is not a department but what is replete with an elaborate and interesting array of articles. Floral hall, agricultural hall, mechanics' hall, manufacturers' hall, and in fact all the halls never presented so great displays. The agricultural exhibits are particularly fine. The contest between the different counties for the prizes for best dis-plays will be spirited.

The live stock department is full of hand-me horses and cattle of all kinds The races promise to be very fine.

If the rain will now hold up the people of Georgia will have the pleasure of seeing the greatest state fair ever held in Georgia. President Northen and all the officers have been very much encouraged by the outlook for a grand exhibition.

In Favor of Hawkes' New Crystallized Lenses Over All Others.

Testimonials from the leading physicians in the United States, governers, senators, legislators, stockmen, men of note in all professions and in different branches of trade, bankers, mechanics, etc., can be given who have had their sight improved by their use.

These glasses have won the admiration of all who have used them. They can be worn any length of time at one sitting and give a marvelous clearness of vision. They stand unrivaled in their splendid reputation.

Mr. Hawkes not only has the best glasses, but carefully examines the eye of each patient, and gives indespensable advice as to the proper selection of glasses, having had an experience of eighteen years in this branch of science.

SPECTACLE FRAMES Are an important part to be considered in the se-lection of spectacles. Some persons are very broad between the eyes, while others are quite narrow. It being necessary that the axis of the eye and that of the lenses should coincide, great care should be taken in their selection. We give a few illustrations of perfect and im-perfect fitting eye-glass and spectacle frames below.

Figures 4 and 5 represent incorrect fitting eyeglasses.

IMITATIONS.

The market is full of imitations, represented to be the same as Hawkes' new crystallized lenses. These imitations are; in most cases, productive of positive injury to the eyes of the wearer. Many dealers will recommend inferior spectacles and eye-glasses, and those of lower price, which afford more profit to themselves.

Manufacturing Department.

We are now prepared to MAKE TO ORDER spectacles and eye-glasses of every description, which will be equal in finish and workmanship to any glasses made in the United States. Oculists' prescriptions will be filled with accuracy and EVERY PAIR WARRANTED.

SENT TO ANY ADDRESS. ATLANTA, GA., OCTOBER 23, 1890.

Governor Hill in Ohio. Governor Hill, of New York, delivered his first speech in Ohio at Canton, the home of Mr. McKinley, who is mainly responsible for the infamous law which imposes new burdens of taxation on the farmers and workingmen of this country. Our telegraphic dispatches yesterday contained a summary of the speech, and, like all other summaries, it is no doubt inadequate.

Nevertheless, even the telegraphic report of the speech showed that it is a masterly address-a powerful presentation of democratic principles-clear, concise, forcible and statesmanlike. The republican papers have for some time been in the habit of deriding Governor Hill, alluding to him as a a mere politician and a political boss, but even the telegraphic report of the Canton speech, unsatisfactory as such a synopsis must be, shows that the New York democratic governor is semething more than a politician.

He seems to have divested himself of mere partianship in discussing the issues that divide the parties, and his arraignment of the republican party has in it the unmistakable evidences of patriotism and statesmanship. The speech will be something in the nature of a revelation to thousands of democrats in the south, for it will convince them that in the democratic governor of New York the democrats of this section and of the whole country have found a powerful and eloquent defender and advocate.

The opening sentences of Governor Hill's speech are worthy of careful and thoughtful consideration. We shall look in vain through the current political literature of our day to find a more comprehensive and statesmanlike description of the political situation. In breadth and completeness the paragraph reminds us of Mr. Tilden at When the governor was introduced by Chairman Welty, he was vigorously applauded as he stepped to the front of the stage. Governor Hill said:

An important political campaign is that upon which our country has entered. None more im-portant has been held in this generation. The contest is not merely between men or parties, and not only between governmental policies. The question presented to our voters is ican or democratic, but whether the ture of our federal government is to be radically modified and the integrity of our institutions successfully threatened. The great issue is record of the republican party in its brief control of congress. No party has more rockles ly defied precedents, more flagrantly disregarded principles, more boastfully overturned traditions, more seriously invaded private rights, more arbitrarily encroached upon pre-rogative of states, or more tyrannically used power of partisan majority. The animating motive of its acts seems to have been only perpetuation of its own lower. It has cared nothing for the constitution, nothing for the treasury, nothing for the people. Its chief desire has been to get such a firm grip or control of the government that for generations to come its politicians may feed upon the spoils of power.

Following this is an arraignment of the republican party, which, although brief, is lish this, the party has increased its majority in the house of representatives by arbitrarily ejecting democrats from their seats; has can majorities; has denied representation to dem ocratic territories much better qualified for state-hood in point of population and resources; has fignored the right of a majority by tyrannical methods and the ruling of the speaker of the house; has squandered the treasury surplus by extravagant appropriations to conciliate particular interests; has enacted a tariff bill which will supply corruption funds for elections; has conthe census, denounced everywhere nseless, and manipulated for counting republi-can population up and democratic popula-tion down; and has threatened the enactment of the force bill, which will put an end to state authority in the certification of federa ciections, and make congress not representative of the people, but the creature of whatever men federal officers may choose to count in.

The voice that is heard in these utterances is not that of a politician or partisan. It is the voice of a statesman.

Banks for Colored Men.

We have frequently referred to the prosperous condition of the Georgia negroes and to the general progress which the negroes of the south are making in various lines. We are always pleased to chronicle their prosperity and to commend them for the work they have accomplished, for it is not only encouraging to them, but is an unanswer able argument to the stories which have been circulated by sectional agitators at the north as to "the oppressed condition" of th couthern negroes.

In South Carolina, where the negro attracts most attention, and is said to be "down-trodden," we notice substantial signs of the advancement of the race. Among the best of these is the fact that a company of colored men has been formed there for the purpose of establishing banks throughout the state, where money will be loaned to the people of their race, at low rates of interest, to aid them in buying homes and in improving their condition gen-

This is a step in the right direction, and, If rightly managed, it will result in general benefit. It is also indisputable evidence that the negroes of South Carolina are prosperous and progressive. It takes money to establish banks, and this they seem to possess. At one time in their history, lured by flat tering inducements, they invested their hardearned money in a republican banking institution of that state, with what evil result the public knows. Now they are wiser, and will run the business to suit themselves. The trouble with the negroes of the south is not a lack of opportunities to succeed and be prosperous, but an overconfidence in every adventurer and sectional agitator who comes along and makes a bid for their confidence. Left to themselves, they work harmoniously with the white people of the frequently happens that when they are on the high road to prosperity the adventurer introduces himself to their notice, unfolds some wild, unseasonable scheme for their advancement, gains their confidence and money and then disappears as suddenly as he came. If they can keep their funds and institutions of all kinds free from the influence of these invaders, their permanent prosperity will be assured.

The prosperity of the negroes is a part of the prosperity of the south. And the south never fails to commend and encourage them in all efforts to better their condition.

Virginia's Eloquent Senator.

The visit of Senator John W. Daniel, of Virginia, to the Pledmont exposition is very gratifying to the people of Atlanta. The distinguished senator is held in high esteem by our citizens, and his address today to the confederate veterans ought to draw thousands of his admirers to Piedmont park. Senator Daniel is one of the most eloquent of our living statesmen, and his speech today will be one of the notable features of the exposition.

A Dangerous Reformer.

In England the salvation army is power. It has secured a firm foothold, and is too strong to be interfered with by church or state.

The leader of this army, General Booth, is a bold and brainy man. He has recently written a book entitled "Darkest England," in which he describes in a graphic way the sufferings of the lower classes, and unfolds his scheme for their relief. The book is full of startling statistics, and its readers feel an uncomfortable dread of impending disaster.

The London papers are glving Booth aid and encouragement. The Daily News admits that nothing can be done for the souls of the millions until something is done for their bodies. The Chronicle says: "We are forced to the conclusion that, so far as the masses are concerned, the gospel of Christianity has lost in our day its power and charm. When we consider her vast resources, Booth's project puts the church in a very disagreeable position." The salvation leader proposes to raise an endowment fund of $5,000,000, the interest of which shall be devoted to providing homes and houses of relief for the outcast poor. What he calls "rescue work" on farms, etc., will be provided for this class of people. A brigade of solicitors will also be organized to undertake a house-to-house collection in London of food, cast-off clothing and other necessary articles.

The idea occurred to us years ago that if the salvation army ever hitched socialism to its chariot it would revolutionize England. It is now drifting in that direction. When hundreds of thousands of men and women are compactly organized, filled to the brim with religious fanaticism, and taught to believe that the wealthy and wellto-do classes owe them a living, and are in duty bound to furnish food, clothing and money on demand, the outlook is full of disturbing probabilities. The salvationist as such is not dangerous and the socialist can be controlled, but when a man believes that God has appointed him te do a little socialistic and communistic work he is a very tough customer to deal with. If General Booth is like ordinary nortals he is the most dangerous reformer that has appeared in the present century. How long will he and his followers be sat sfied with voluntary contributions? When they realize their power they will increase their demands. It will not be strange if they finally resort to violent methods to distribute property on a more equal scale. In the name of religion and reform blood has been shed in the past, and history may repeat itself.

It strikes us that if General Booth gets his scheme under good headway he will prove to be a very dangerous reformer.

Petticoats and Protection. The women of the country are the stern est and most stubborn opponents of the Mc-Kinley tariff.

For a very plain street outfit a woman nust now pay $2.50 more than the same material cost a few weeks ago. This comes home to those who delayed purchasing their fall and winter things, and they bitterly re-ent it. The increase of $2.50 for the economical utfit mentioned is, of course, multiplied in the case of a fashionable woman with a more expensive rig.

From the society lady down to the factory girl there is a general outcry against Mc-Kinleyism, and millions of feminine tongues are pouring their grievances into the ears of husbands, fathers, brothers and sweethearts.

McKinleyism cannot withstand this upising of the better half of the republic. When the women of America array themelves against the robber tariff it will have to go. Possibly the people might have been forced to submit to the increased prices of the goods and implements consumed by our male population, but when the tariff tinkers laid their rude hands on gloves, corsets. dress linings, millinery and such things, they sowed the wind, and they must now reap the whirlwind.

What Is to Be Done About It? The New York Sun, commenting on some remarks in THE CONSTITUTION to the effect that there should be an active democratic campaign against the McKinley law, calls our attention to the fact that a very good issue for the democrats to take up is the pending force and bayonet bill.

What The Sun says about this bayonet ssue is true, and it is a matter which we have discussed at great length in these columns. But, in a campaign that covers the whole country, there is no reason why the entire record of the republican party, made under the auspices of Speaker Reed, should not enter into the discussion. Southern democrats who are in favor of moderate protection recognize the fact that the McKinley law is sectional and that, under its operations, the people of the south cannot keep up their record of prosperity; and we observe that Governor Hill, in his Canton speech, an admirable production, which we have commented on elsewhere, makes the new tariff law an issue and exposes its in-iquitous operations with the vendous force. And yet, it is undoubtedly true, as The Sun suggests, that the force bill is a more important issue than the McKinley bill. We have made this fact clear on various occasions; but there are considerations affecting its discussion which The Sun seems to south and prosper in their work. But it ignore. In the first place the force bill is aimed at the south alone. It is purely see tional in its aims and purposes. Should the bill become a law its provisions will never affect the people of the north. Only the democrats of the south will be disfranchised by its operations; only southern democratic ongressmen will be counted out, This fact makes all the difference in the world. For a great many years the south has been playing what Tennessee's pardner would call "a lone hand." It is to be feared that the attitude of the northern people toward the force bill is almost as apathetic now as it was when THE CONSTITUTION made an effort to stir them up with the bovcott suggestion. We do not see the issue made in the campaign at the north, and among the democratic speakers of that section only Governor Hill has maised his voice against the infamous measure.

We ask Mr. Dana, therefore, what the south is to do about it.

THE REPUBLICANS in the Virginia district low misrepresented by Langston, are so well satisfied with Reed's methods of counting in, that they will not gofto the trouble of making a nomination this year. If the republican hold the next house, Langston can be counted

Now that the war is over, Falstaff Reed has got his bristles up.

That is Ludovic Halevy's excuse for putting an end while still living, to a long and prosperous career of authorship; and it is probably as good an exis by no means an old man, being still under sixty. THERE MAY BE SOMETHING DEFI-NITE ABOUT THE MAYORALTY.

As Yet It Is All Talk-Mr. Hemphill and Mr. Kontz Prominently Talked of-How Will the Nomination Be Made?

The race for mayor is growing in interest every day. So far Mr. Hemphill and Mr. Kontz are the only gentlemen prominently talked of for the position, but Mr. Walter R. Brown's name has been mentioned. Mr. Brown, however, has not decided what he will do. Mr. Hemphill's name has met with an enthusiastic reception by the people, and if he concludes to allow his friends to present him to the people he will receive a grand support, Mr. Kontz's announcement as a candidate is cementing his friends together, and it is a trong array they will make. The question of Kentz's eligibility, like that Hutchison, is being discussed. There are many who think that the law applies to every cilman or alderman now serving, alike. And it is argued that if it precluded Dr. Huchison's candidacy, it would preclude the candidacy of any one now serv-ng with him. This view of the case, however, is foreign to the ideas of Mr. Kontz and his friends. Just how the race will shape itself cannot be told just now.

There are many indications of ward meetings, from which delegates will go to a convention, by which a full ticket will be put

Then there are those who favor a big mass meeting, at which committees will be appointed to name the ticket. And still there is an element which favors a fight from the shoulder-no nominations at

At present the situation is somewhat uncertain, and the great uncertainty is due to the fact that the election is quite a distance off yet. After the exposition the campaign will warm up.

A DAY IN ATLANTA.

A day like yesterday causes much profaulty. There was swearing on all sides-swearing long, and loud, and deep.

As a rule this was not aimed at the elements r the "clerk of the weather," who is, in the fiction of the day, supposed to have something to do with the regulation of affairs. No, the good people of Atlanta-barring, possibly, a few expesition directors-endured the pouring down of the rain and the fierce gusts of the whiskers-disheveling east wind without a murmur: but there was one thing they couldn't stand, and didn't when they could help it. That was the gouging of the street hackmen. Not one man alone, but at least a dozen, spoke to me about the exorbitant prices charged by the hackmen.

There is kicking on all sides.

Under the present law—which was passed,
I believe, at the instance of some politician who thought the hackmen's votes might be of some use to him at some time—a street hack is allowed to charge 50 cents from any point n the city to any other point. The distance makes no difference-for two blocks the charge is as heavy as for a mile. In good weath o be sure, it is possible to get a cheaper rate for a short ride; but on a day like yesterday the average street hackmen must see the color of your half dollar before he will move a foot. Hence the kicking. And the people have a right to kick. . or rears the law permitted the hacks to charge out 23 cents for a trip from any one point in the city to any other point up to 10 o'clock at night, and I never heard a hackman comple that he was not well paid. The good effect of the recent-war between the transfer companies is still felt. The Ballard Transfer Company and the Menko Transfer Company serve the people at the old rate of 25 cents; if they lost money by it you know they would shut down low prices in mighty short order. But they cannot carry all Atlanta, and as ng as they cannot, the other hackmen should be forced to come to their prices. Until they do, the sufferers should patronize the transfer companies. The grand old county of Wilkes was done an in justice in The Constitution's table showng what the apportionment of representatives to the legislature will be under the new census. That table put Wilkes down as one of the connties that will-lese a representative, when the fact is that the county clearly holds its own, and will have two representatives in the future, as it has now. The fault was in the tables furnished by the census bureau. Wilkes's population was put at 16,144. THE CONSTITUTION received from several prominent citizens of Washington complaint that this must a mistake, and a telegram was at once sent to the superintendent of the census asking for the official figures. Here is the washington, D. C., October 22.—The Constitu-tion, Atlanta: The official count gives Wilkes County 18,114. F. F. CHILDS, Acting Superintendent of Census That places Wilkes a good many points up in the column of counties entitled to two-representatives. Wilkes is seventeenth of the twenty-six counties, coming between Hall with 18,032 and Dooly with 18,100. Under these new figures, Pike loses her position in the two representative column, joining Putnam, the only other county that loses a representative.

"Do you know who is liable to be the next enator from Georgia?" The question was asked by the most success ful man of his years in middle Georgia-Senator "Dose" Massengale, of Warren county "You don't?" he continued. "Well, I'll tell you. Down our way we'd like to see General Gordon elected, but it looks just now as if the chances were against him, so we are for Tom Watson. The farmers want a man who stands squarely on the alliance platform and that man is Tom Watson. Look out for

Mr. Charles Stow, general agent for the big Barnum & Bailey show, is a man worth knowing. An old journalist, who has figured prominently in political campaigns in New York and Pennsylvania—a globe-trotter, who has seen everything that is worth seeing-and a splendid story teller, he is a companion with when it is a real pleasure to while away an after-

Yesterday Mr. Stow told of some interesting incidents of life with the "greatest show on earth."

"Do you know," remarked Mr. Stow, "that an elephant is afraid of a rat? It's a curious fact. It seems odd that a herd of ponderous elophants can be stampeded by one poor little mouse, don't it?
"In Africa the elephant feeds principally upon a small shrub, and it so happens that this same shrub is the favorite nest-building place of a small rodent, much resembling our com-'It is no uncommon occurrence for the elephant to pull up one of the shrubs, with the rat's nest and the rat in it. He puts the bundle in his mouth before the rat can escape, and then there is trouble.

"When the rat begins moving, the elephant, wild with fright, shuts his mouth tight. The rat gnaws and gnaws, while the poor old elephant rushes about blindly, beside himself with terror. When a ness of these living rats is discovered the elephants set up a furious trumpeting, and the whole heard will run off as fast as they can go."

"At Council Bluffs, only a few days ago," he continued, "just after the menageric tents were put up and the elephants marched in, one of them began trumpeting, and the whole crowd took it up. The attendants rushed in, and unchained the elephants just in time to prevent a stampede. The first elephant had found a nest of young rabbits on the ground, and believing that they were rats had so the alarm. The elephants could not be in-duced to go back there, but stood together on the opposite side of the tent, shaking with There they staid, too, until the tent was taken down."

"There are fourteen elephants with the show. The most useful one in the lot is Mandry, the father of the first baby elephant born in America. Frequently the heavy circus wagons are stalled in the mud, miring up to the hubs. Then Old Mandry gets behind the wagen, places his head against it and shoves it ahead of him, though six or eight horses could not pull it out of the mad. Did you know that the elephant is almost as amphibious an animal as the hippopotamus? They can stay under water five nutes at a time with out any inconvenience and they swim ducks. Frequently they are carried into a river or creek in the summer time to bathe and like the water so well that it's a hard matter to get them out of it.'

"Everybody knows about Mr. Barnum and his wonderful career. Not so many, perhaps, know James A. Bailey, who owns a half in terest in the show. He is a man of wonderful executive ability, and works harder than any employe of the circus. He will be found on the ground at 5 o'clock in the morning, and there he stays until everything is over at night. He knows all about a circus, from the extreme advance to the loading on the cars. He was born in Detroit, and earned his first money as a bell boy in one of the hotels there. He is still a young man, about forty-five: modest and unassaming, but business all over, and enterprise through and through.

"Neither of the men, Barnum or Bailey, was ever known to take a drink of liquor of play cards. Barnum, indeed, was one of the best temperance lecturers in the country. They have made their show famous the world over for its clean moral status. Drunkenness is not tolerated.'

"One old toper that caused Mr. Barnum no ittle anxiety was old Jumbo, the big elephant, Jumbo chewed tobacco and iquor in any shape. It had a peculiar effect, oo; not a great deal being required to make the big fellow tipsy.

"A great many elephants become very fond of tobacco-most of them, in fact. Jumbo noticed the canvasmen spitting tobacco in the spitteens, and learned to held out trunk with the tip end up, like a spittoon, whenever the men were work ing near him. He would take the quids, second-hand, with a grunt of thanks, and chew like he really preferred that sort."

"In the employ of the circus there are 900 men, with 400 horses. The salaries run from $15 and $20 to $200 and $300 a week. The circus has three rings and two stages. Until ur show went to England, those people had never seen more than one ring at a time, and they went wild over the American idea. "The advance consists of five advertising agents, with a force of nearly 150 men. "The expenses of the show are about $6,000 The pictorial advertising is something enormous. An average of 15,000 sheets is put up every day, to say nothing of countless programmes, hand-bills and the like. "We paid last year for our lithograph work the body, one knee has been shot to nieces, while his body—one knee has been shot to pieces, while another ball splintered his right wrist, that has no bone left." Having passed through such an experience as The Banner relates, the only wonder is that Mr. Witcher is alive at this time and able to run for any office. He certainly deserves consideration.

Other Reinforcements on Their Way-Four White Men Shot Down.

There was a fatal riot vesterday in Coffee

The last account is from the line of a men who left the scene of action while the work of leath was still going on.

The trouble is in the backwoods of Coffee county, in a remote section, where the blacks outnumber the whites almost ten to one. The negroes are led by a white man The wildest excitement prevails in the surcounding country. A military company has been ordered from Wayeross to the scene of the fighting, about twenty-five miles away.

Other reinforcements are hurrying from all directions.

Four White Men Shot Down. In the first attack, in the firing witnessed by the man who carried the message to the milroad, four white men were shot down.

They were: B. E. McLENDON, FRANK SEERS, THOMAS SEERS,

- HENDRICKS. Whether they were killed then, or aftervards, the witness could not say.
"I saw those four men fall," he says, "almost together. I got on a horse and rode hard to reach the railroad. If help don't reach them from the outside, there won't be a white man le't to tell the story.' What happened at the scene of the riot after this man left could not be learned last night.

The gravest fear is that the trouble will ome general. The destruction of life and property, in that event, might be terrible. THE CONSTITUTION'S SPECIAL WAYGROSS, Ga. October 22.—[Special.]— News reaches here from McDonald's Mill, on the Brunswick and Western railroad, twenty-two miles west of this city, of a riot at Stokes's turpentine mill, five miles from the railroad, LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE. Mr. Kontz's Eligibility. EDITOR CONSTITUTION: There is some talk about the Rice law affecting the eligibility of Mr. Kontz for the mayoralty.

This question has already been settled. The The question has already been settled. The Rice law went into effect September, 1889. An election was held for city council in December in which Mr. J. G. Woodward, a member of the council of 1889, was a candidate for the aldermante board of 1899. Knowing of the existence of the Rice law, the city attorney, Mr. John B. Goodwin, worked for Mr. Woodward in the nomination, voted for him in the election, and sancnation, voted for him in the election, and sanctioned the declaration of the result on the counting of the vote in the general council. Hon, John T. Glenn, mayor of the city, also sanctioned and recognized the election, as has the general e uncil itself ever since. No one disputes Mr. Woodward's right to his seat.

If the election of a mayor from the body of the council would affect the credit of the city, would not the presence on the financial board of an alderman similarly elected, work the same result? Ronds have already been issued which depend for their validity upon Alderman Woodward's vote.

Nor is this all. When in December last Mr. Kontz was elected to membership on the board of education, the question was referred to the city attorney as to his eligibility under this same Rice law, and the decision was in his favor. This is quoted to show that the city attorney, in endorsing and voting for Mr. Woodward, had full knowledge of the existence of the Rice law. Mr. Kontz, therefore, is clearly eligible. ATLANTA.

Roberts, the Bigamist, Taken Back to Whitfield County. Jim Roberts, who was arrested Tuesday by Detectives Cason and Etheridge on a warrant charging him with bigamy, was taken back to Dalton, where the crime was claimed to have been committed, yesterday. The sheriff of Whitfield county came for him yesterday morning.

Mr. Mullinax and his daughter, Roberts's wife, whom he married in Dalton, left for home yesterday. The young woman took the shock very hard. She could hardly be made to believe that her husband was a criminal, and although she willingly went back home with her father, she firmly believed that Roberts was unjustly persecuted. Roberts would not say anything for publica-tion at all, but Detective Cason says that to him he admitted being guilty of bigamy, stating at the time that he was ready to stand the con-

LAMPKIN MUST PAY

FOR HIS LITTLE PRACTICAL JOKE ON A PEDDLER.

A Jury in Charge of the Case Finds Lampkin Guilty of Robbery by Intimidation Reaves's Case Today.

ATHENS, Ga., October 22.—[Special.]— 'Guilty of robbery by intimidation.''
That was the verdict which was rendered by the jury in the case against Robert H. Lampkin this afternoon about 5 o'clock. In consequence thereof Lampkin will have to serve a term in the penitentiary, if he does not get a new trial. THE STORY OF THE ATTEMPT.

It will be remembered that a short while since J. D. Kelly, an Irish peddler, preferred charges against R. H. Lampkin and R. L. Reaves, by swearing out a warrant for each, charging them with highway robbery. Kelly was stopping at Lampkin's hotel, and one night, as he said, he was just fixing to go to bed, when the door opened and Lampkin and Reaves came in and caught hold of him, and demanded his money. He had $140 which he said he handed over to Reaves when his life was threatened.

On the committal trial of the case, Justice Fuller dismissed the warrants, and the two men were free. The grand jury met, indicted both for robbery, and yesterday the case against Robert H. Lampkin was taken up. The courthouse was thronged with with spectators, as the case had attracted great interest. It was one in which the penalty was anywhere from two to twenty years, and twenty years amounts to a life sentence with a man past the prime of life.

The evidence was clearly put before the court and the jury, and the defendant stated his testimony, declaring his innocence. Colonel F. M. Hughes spoke one hour and a half in behalf of the state. Hon. Pope Barrow elaborated the showing of the defense. Solicitor General Russell closed for the state. THE VERDICT FOUND.

Judge Hutchins charged the jury, and in thirty minutes a verdict of guilty was ren-Lampkin has not been sentenced as vet.

His attorneys will carry the case to the supreme court. The case of the state against R. L. Reaves, charged with the same offense, will be called tomorrow. SOME INTERESTING CASES. This term of the court has had some very interesting criminal cases. Two robbery cases, one arson case and one train-wrecking case. The arson case was against Florida Thomas, a colored girl aged thirteen, who was sent up for life for attempting to burn the house of Mrs. Smith in this city. The case of attempted train-wrecking is that against a negro boy who some time since made several attempts to throw the Georgia railway train from the Oconee river trestle. It will be tried,

GOSSIP IN THE CORRIDORS.

Mr. Rebert Fryer, of Talbot county, a pron inent planter and an enthusiastic member of the Farmers' Alliance, is in attendance at the Piedmont exposition. Mr. Fryer is a man of close observation and good judgment, and carries out the principles of his allianceship by producing the best crops possible from the number of acres of land in cultivation.

"I think there will be no doubt," said he "about the election of Mr. Moses to congress "about the election of Mr. Moses to congress in the fourth district. He is a good man and sound democrat, and is making, so far as I know, a very strong canvass. His opponent, Mr. Walter Johnson, is a very clever and popular man personally, but my opinion is that Moses will be elected. Of the five candidates in the field against Governor Gordon, I don't think the riches of the strength of the st think that either of them can be elected, but believe that the alliance will concentrate upon some good man who represents their views and who will get at least 165 votes."

Captain S. P. Gilbert, of Columbus, is one of the members-elect in the next house of representatives, which will make his second term in office. Captain Gilbert is in the city to attend the prize drill at the Piedmont exposition, and is stopping at the Kimball. "I regard the congressional race in the fourth district as a very close one," said he, "and it is a matter of great importance to the demo-cratic party. While Mr. Moses is making a good race among the alliancemen, it is a stern fact that his opponent, Walter Johnson, is personally a very popular man in some sections of the district. Mr. Johnson has made promises that are likely to catch votes, and it is necessary that a full democratic vote should be polled in order to make the election of Mr. Moses certain. I regard the situation as a serious one, as the republican candidate, in case the next congress is republican, might secure enough votes to unseat the democratic candidate should the latter be elected.

Mr. M. S. Copeland, traveling agent of the

Mr. M. S. Copeland, traveling agent of the Southern Alliance Farner, has just roturned from a trip through the seventh congressional district, where he made four speeches for Mr. Everett, the alliance candidate for congress.

"There is no doubt whatever," said Mr. Copeland, "about the election of Everett in the seventh district. He has already got Felton beaten and that badly. I have visited several counties in the district, and as I never make a mistake in my calculations as to politics, you can say that Felton will be defeated from one to two thousand votes, and if Hargraves gets out of the race the majority will run between two and three thousand votes."

Mr. Edward Freeman, a well-known planter of Bartow county, was in the city yesterday. Mr. Freeman is not an allianceman, nor is he a politician. He is a thorough going farmer, though sharp as al briar and well posted on current events of the day.

"The closest contest in the seventh district," said Mr. Freeman, "will be in Bartow county, the home of Dr. Felton. It is hard to tell what the result will be. In Floyd the doctor will have between three and four hundred majority over Everett and will more than likely carry Cobb. Dr. Felton is making a very strong race and the chances of being elected are strongly in his favor."

A BOLD ATTEMPT TO BREAK JAIL

AND OZBURN THE MAIN LEADER.

The Startling Discovery a Fulton County Jail Watchman Made.

IRON BARS ARE SAWED OFF.

But Little More Work Would Have Brought Liberty.

THE STORY OF THE ATTEMPT.

There was a genuine sensation at the Fulton county jail last night.

It was one of the most nearly successful attempts at jail-breaking that has ever occurred in Fulton county.

Two heavy iron doors were sawed open and the keen steel teeth were busy at work on one of the back windows when the daring prisoners were discovered in their work. The discovery was made about 11 o'clock by Watchman Kimberly, whose attention was arrested by the sharp grating of the saw against the iron bars of the window. Accomplices were on the outside of the building to aid the escape of the prisoners, but they were frightened away by the police, who were called to the scene.

WHO TRIED TO ESCAPE. Charles M. Ozburn, convicted of murder In the first degree, was one of the men who come so near escaping. He was the ring leader in the attempt, it is thought by the jail authorities.

Joseph Patterson, under sentence to seven vears for assault to murder, was another. Gus Brit, charged with assault with intent to murder, was a third, and W. H. Bird the fourth.

All are white men

They had all succeeded in getting out of their cells into the corridor, and only a few minutes work lay between them and liberty when the watchman discovered the situa-Ozburn is confined in a cell by himself, on the first floor together. The heavy iron bolts which fasten the doors to these two cells were sawed, allowing the prisoners the liberty of the hall. The work was done with a small steel saw, in a skeleton frame, such as is used by machinists. The tools were new, the frame

Mrs. Ozburn has been in the habit of visiting her husband daily. She goes and comes frequently, and without being searched before entering Ozburn's cell. Since the trial she has usually remained in the cell slone with him some time.

Yesterday Mrs. Ozburn visited her husband and remained with him about two hours during the morning.

Just when the saw was carried in is impossible to tell, though Patterson stated that the cell doors had been sawed for three days. The sawing was done in daylight, while the doors were swung open.

Ozburn refused to tell anything about the saws, except that he knew they were in the prison and he took advantage of the oppor-

DISCOVERING THE PRISONERS AT WORK Here is how the escape was prevented:

About 11 o'clock last night, Night Watchman Kimberly heard an unusual noiseproceeding from the main part of the prison. He stepped to the grating opening into the corridor, and was surprised to see the four men mentioned hurrying about, their cell doors being open.

When the men saw that they were discovered they tried to get back into their cells before the guards got in and saw just who they were and what they were doing. Mr. Kimberly unbarred the big door and with a trusty-a revenue prisoner-stepped inside to examine things. In a moment the two men realized that there was danger ahead, that the job was a bigger one than they could handle. They retreated quickly, and a telephone message was sent to police headquarters for assistance. In a few minutes

THE POLICE ARRIVED in the patrol wagon. As the wagon dashed around the corner of Hunter street into Frazier, on which the jail is situated, two men wearing rubber coats were seen to run rapidly away from the jail. The officers did not give pursuit and they Patterson's cell was the first investigated. He and Bird and Britt were all there. After a few minutes questioning, Patterson gave the whole plan of escape away. He told how the doors had been sawed, and gave the officers a clue as to where the saw was.

Patterson led the officers to cell No. 19, occupied by four negroes.

The saw frame was found in their cell, hidden down in a ventilating hole in the side of Then the three saw blades, a bottle of oil and a lot of twine strings were discovered hidden in the water closet.

Patterson stated that when discovered by the watchman the saw and other things were quickly thrust through the door for the negroes' cell for concealment. The negroes had taken the saw and hid it, as stated. After this Ozburn's cell was thoroughly searched, but nothing else was found. A heavy bludgeon was found in the corrider. This the prisoners doubtless intended to use if the occasion arose.

One of the window bars was sawed half through.

Patterson acknowledged everything else connected with the attempt, but refused to tdll how the saw came into the jail. He said he would not tell on his fellow-prisoner, who had offered him an opportunity to get away.

He said if the watchman had given them a

Patterson is to be taken to the penitentiary today to serve his seven year-sentence.

A THEORY.

The officials think that the prisoners did not ntend to escape by the window.

They believe that they had confederates on the outside, who were to overpower the guards at a given signal, when the prisoners had all gotten out into the corridor. Color is given to this theory by the fact that two men were seen running away from the jail when the patrol wagon drove up. It was fortunate that Watchman Kimberly made the discovery when he did. Had he been a little later there might have been bloodshed, as the prisoners would not have been given up without a struggle.

WHY GRANT WAS GREAT. Due Recognition When True Merit is Once Established.

Was Grant a great general?-conceded. What made him so? When U. S. Grant was hauling cord-wood into St. Louis his neighbors did not imagine he would become the most famous man of his generation. When he was managing the little tannery in Galena no one of his intimates recognized in him a future hero. But the displayed qualities which should have satras there about him?

If you start to build a single story shanty you pay little attention to the foundation; you may lay stringers in the sand, with little fear the building will fall. But if you propose erecting a ten-story block, your architect will tell you you must go to the rock for the basis of your foundation, or the stately structureble to tumblis liae about your cars.

The foundation of a great man is moral force—character; this is the rock foundation. The shift ess man lacks it; he never succeeds Grant never used an oath—a sure indication of moral character. He never told, or listened to, if he could help it, a vulgar story; this showed peculiar moral fibre, an unusual strength of character. He was a man of opinions—as his wife said, was obstinate; in other words he had will never force.

opinions—as as whe said, was obstance; in other words he had will power, force.

These qualities, with good judgment, well balanced mental powers, and peculiar executive ability, supplemented by a military education, fitted him for the emergency, when it ame. As soon as his merits became Anomal, success was assured. This is always the case, with things as with men. "I well know the value of Warner's Safe Cure," writes M. Carr, and Parasit Binchamton, N. Y. value of Warner's Safe Cure," writes M. Carr, of the Hotel Bennett, Binghamton, N. Y. In 1884 I had a difficulty with my kidneys. The doctors did not help me; I was badly out of rig. One day a traveling man from Utica advised me to try Warner's Safe Cure. The first bottle did me so much good that when my family doctor called I threw his medicine out of the window, while he was present. It continued to use Warner's Safe Cure until I was entirely well."

The test of merit is the accomplishment of the matter in hand. The best is that which is most certain.

The ushers were Mr. John Clark, Dr. Frank Holland, Mr. Hal Morrison, Dr. Creushaw.

The Rev. Mr. Powers, rector of St. Paul's church, Macon, performed the beautiful ceremony of the Episcopal church with eloquent solemnity, the bride being given away by her guardian, Mr. Z. D. Harrison.

The party marched out to Mendelssohn's wedding march. The bride, whose exquisite beauty has always made her distinguished, never looked so lovely as in her bridal traveling suit, a simple tailor's-made broadcloth fitting to perfection her queen'y figure, and a hat to march, while in her hands she carried a large bouquet of Marcchal Niel roses. Miss Ada Frobel wore a London smokecloth costume, and carried, as did the bridesmaids, a large bouqet of Marechal Niel

Miss Genie Orchard wore gray silk and brown elvet combinations.

A triple wedding occurred yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. S. M. Alexander, at West End, when three couples were married at the same time in the handsome drawing room, richly lorned with chrysanthemums.

The couples entered all at the same time and stood in a semicircle. Mr. Thomas Scott and Miss Alice Dunn were first united by the Rev. N. B. Mathis, who, after the ceremony, made several choice remarks upon love and the marriage state, and closed by reading a poem which he had written to the bride.

The bride wore a handsome tailor costume of rown cloth. Dr. Kennedy, of Franklin, Tenn., performed the ceremony for the other two couples, who were Miss Willie Alexander, of Sanford, Fla., and Mr. A. R. Gordon, of Franklin, Tenn.; Mr. Frank. Whitner, of Sanford, Fla., and Miss Carrie Alexander, of Sanford, Fla.

The second bride wore a handsome blue tailor costume, and the third a plum-colored cloth gown The parlors, hallways and dining room were beautifully decorated. The table in the diffing room was artistically adorned with tuberoses and butterfly lilies, beautiful cakes and fruits, and here delicious refreshments were served immediately after the ceremony.

WHY HE GOT THE JOB. He Stood Farmer Crane's Test and Was

Rewarded. Farmer Crane, who lives over on the town line, says The Teledo Blade, has some very unique methods of examining the men who apply to him from time to time for work. Some time ago a tail, big-boned fellow in his shirt sleeves, asked Crane if he had any work

"I don't know," said the farmer; "can you 'tend horses?"
"Yes, indeed, I've worked about horses Jall
my life.'

my life."

"Come around bere to the pump," said Crane, and he led the way to a common sucker-rod pump near the barn. Going inside he got a long, narrow pitcher and piaced it under the spout. "There," said he, "pump that pitcher full of water." The big-boned fellow complied, carefully pumping the pitcher full without spilling a drop.

"That'll do," sa'd Crane, "go inside and get ready for supper; I'll give you a job in the morning."

ready for supper; I'il give you a job in the morning."

About a week later the big-boned fellow asked Crane what pumping the pitcher full of water had to do with his getting a job.

"Well, I'll just teil you. This is mighty dry weather, and water is getting scarce. You must have thought that, for you didn't spill any water. If you leadn't pumped hard the water would have been spilled, and if you had pumped too hard the water would have gone over the pitcher. Now, the way I argue is this: If a fellow don't pump hard enough, he won't work hard enough. If he pamps too hard, he'll work too hard for a little while, and I don't want either kind to work for me. You pumped exactly right, and you got a job."

The Good of Vegetarians.

From The Chicago Herald.

The solemn antics and mummeries of the "vegetarian philosophers" are enough to make the face of the earth broaden into a smile. Yet vegetari ans are useful, and their good work will be felt long after their fad has been buried in the dust of ancient history. These worshippers of cereals, raw and cooked, of nut and fruit diet, while they will not cause mankind to return to the eating habits of our Si-mian prototypes, will do this much good: They will instruct the ignorant and the wasteful in ways of conomy; they may bring about some reon in the matter of excessive meat-eating and form in the matter of excessive meat-cating and beer-drinking and cause people to pay more at-tention to the products of the earth, which are now too much neglected. There is no doubt that much of the corn led to pigs would do more good if eaten by people. The vegetarians will finally disappear in the clouds of the fad, but they will leave much grain for he world in their theoretical chaff.

I have used Bull's Sarsaparilla in skin diseases of long standing, which demanded a thorough change of the fluids of the body, and any physician knowing its composition will ad-admit its value.—W. T. Prentise, Lewisport, Ky.

Another function of the Kidneys is to eliminate urea, urid acid and other waste products which so quickly poison the whole system if left to course through the blood.

Now, when the Kidneys become diseased, and fail to discharge their important functions, the skin, liver, bowels and lungs undertake the work of elimination—a work these organs are unfitted to perform.

It is readily understood that with this unnatural condition of things the whole body will soon become diseased, and death, alas! will too often follow.

"Keep the Kidneys in good tone and you will preserve your health," is a motto worth remembering.

ger carried by Mrs. Gould, the gin of blood on its point.

Dr. Patton's story established the case of bomicide and fixed the killing upon Mrs. Gould, leaving the defense to prove that it is, or was not, justifiable.

THE NEGRO'S STORY.

He tells this story.
While he was unloading some wood in front the house that day, Mrs. Gould ran out the door screaming, and down the front steps, wed by her husband. Gould held a walk-tick with which he struck his wife several in coming out the door and down the Gould raised his stick to strike her again, and at the same instant she stepped quickly toward him with the knife in her hand. uld struck his wife with the cane just as she stabbed him.

Her blow was not made by raising the hand and bringing it downward, as a man would have done; but it was an awkward thrust, almost straight forward. The negro again interfered, coming between the two, and suggested to Gould that a doctor

Cannon corroborated Ramsey's story of this incident fully, adding that Gould said, as he

"I'll kill the d—d—, yet!"
Other bits of corroboratory evidence were given in by the neighbors.
But there was only one eyewitness of the tabbing, except Gould and his wife, and that was the negro, Ramsey.

NO DEATH BED STATEMENT.

The credibility of the negro Ramsey was The prosecution attempted to bring in a statement made by Gould upon his death bed. It could not be established, however, that Gould knew he was dying; and therefore it could not be admitted as a death bed state-

"I knew Gould would die," said Dr. Patton, but I don't know that he knew it when this statement was made."

Then the prosecution attempted to bring in his statement as made in the presence of Ramsey, who attended Gould, in rebuttal of the negro's statement.

But the judge ruled it inadmissable, so that Gould's account of the fatal difficulty was never given to the jury.

THE "ELOQUENT GEORGIA LEC-

In Which He Refers to the Talk About Himself and About His Troubles—The Leak Mercantile Agency.

S. Garlington Leak has come to the front again.
This time he gets there with both pedal extremities, so to speak.
The Constitution is in receipt of another ebullition of his genius, in which he speaks his mind rather plainly.

The epistle is a literary curiosity, and furnishes mighty interesting reading. It goes on to say:

"THE LEAR MERCANTILE AGENCY."

"GRIFFIN, Ga., October 18.—Editor Constitution: The other half has not been toid.

"The human race has been guilty of almost countless crimes; but I have some excuse for mankind. This world, after all, is not very well adapted to raising good people. Such has been my experience.

countiess crimes; but I have some excuse for mankind. This world, after all, is not very well adapted to raising good people. Such has been my experience.

"Now I want to say to the newspapers, to the reporters and to all concerned in S. G. Leak, personally, or S. G. Leak, farmer, or lawyer, or schoolteacher, or stenographer, or S. G. Leak, manager, or swindler, or lecturer, or S. G. Leak, manager, or swindler, or lecturer, or S. G. Leak, manager, or swindler, or lecturer, or S. G. Leak, manager, or swindler, or lecturer, or S. G. It was said my schemes were impractical, and I presume they were, for I left the 'thing' head-over-heels in debtand likewise another 'thing' was left head-over-heels in trouble.

They say that S. Garlington Leak is $120,000, more or less, in debt-well, does that make me a swindler? If so, an honest man can become a swindler by going in debt.

"Now, Mr. Editor, can a young man reform? They tell me he can. The ministers say that it was thought by the persons that spring rain falling into the sea shells would turn into percious gems when they drop into God's bottle-but it seems to be that before a stopper can be found that glorified substance 'Leaks' out. Honesty must be the best policy, they say; I've tried both.

"Every little paper I pick up, I can see, in large letters, S. Garlington Leak, the great young swindler. That is a good reputation to start out lecturing on, don't you think so?

"I can't afford to give what I know away, it cost too much, People say, 'I'n going to hear that "young devil" lecture tonight, and I want to see who he looks like, anyhow.

"I am going to better a thing as competing with Bradstreet and Dun's mercantile agency. Where's is my gain? The northern agencies have it, and the southern little 'swindler' is left to padde his own canoe.

THE RACE PROBLEM

DISCUSSED BY PROFESSOR O. O'R. STRAYER AT THE FIRST BAPTIST.

The Lecturer Appeals to the Baptists of Georgia for Assistance in Establish-ing an Educational Institution.

The race problem discussed by a southern

Mr. O. O'B. Strayer, formerly of Baltimore, but during the last eight months a resident of Americus, delivered quite an entertaining lec-ture on the race problem, to an audience that would have been much larger but for the in-clemency of the weather.

Mr. Strayer has long been identified with that philanthropic movement which has been working for the upbuilding of the higher moral and social status of the colored race.

During the last eight months he has been at work in Americus, endeavoring to establish a high school and normal school for the education of the negro youth of that section.

He has labored earnestly and zealously, and has met with gratifying success in the work, having already raised a considerable portion of the funds necessary to establish the school.

At 8 o'clock Mr. Strayer opened his discourse without any introduction or preliminaries.

The speaker began by saying that what he had to say he would say as a southern man. Not that he would feel any misgivings in speaking as a northern man, as a city that had given to the country a Grady, a Colquitt, a Gordon and a Sam Jones would be ready to listen to a northern man.

He said that his family had lived in Virginia for long years, where he himself had nursed a confederate soldier, who, during his convalescence, took a great fancy to reading, and in every book he read he must needs write his name, "Willie A. Pryor, Americus, Ga.," which was the first time he had ever heard of Americus, the place where he is now trying to build up a colored school. The way that the colored race is growing and multiplying it will soon be a question not what we will do with them, but what they will do with us, he said.

The lecturer went on to illustrate by an inecdote of two kings who, went to war about a

King No. 1 wrote to King No. 2 thus: My Dear Sir: Send me a blue pig with a curly tail; if you don't-

Just then a fly tickled him on the nose, and he stopped short, signed the letter, scaled it and dispatched it to his neighbor, who was amazed when he opened it and read it.
"Why," said he, "what does this mean? Is this a threat?"

Then he wrote a reply thus: Dear Sir: I have no blue pig, and if I had-

And stopped short. King No. 1 became angered, and the result was a great war, in which many lives were sacrificed, and at last they declared a truce sacrificed, and at last they declared a truce and began to negotiate a peace.

"I want to know," said King No. 2, "why you wrote that letter?"
"About the blue pig? Why, it's as plain as the nose on your face. I intended to say that I wished you to send me a blue pig with a curly tail, and if you don't have such a pig, send me some other kind. Now, why did you write me such a reply?"
"Why, that's plain enough. I simply intended to reply that I had no blue pig with a curly tail, but if I had I would send it with pleasure."

The application is that for twenty-five years the north and south have been at outs about the black man with curly hair.

The speaker went on to say that the so-called "southern problem" is not a "southern" problem, but a arcial problem. The prej-udice against the colored race is not a south-ern or a northern prejudice, as colored men are put off southern railroad trains and northern steamboats, in the same way; and the Grand Army of the Republic split in two in New Orleans on account of the question of admitting the colored organization.

It is an Anglo-Saxon prejudice.

The speaker said that the problem consists of six questions and one solution.

The first question is extermination. The speaker hoped that no such mad idea would ever prevail. In the first place, the black man is a brawny man, a fat place, the black man is a brawny man, a fat man, and a man who laughs. A man who laughs is hard to kill. You may kill him all day, and at sunset he will get up smiling!

The next question is to let them alone. The speaker deprecated any such thing as that as the let alone realists. speaker deprecated any such thing as that, as the let-alone policy is werse than no policy. The third is disfranchisement, which is The third is disfranchisement, which is impracticable, because when a man works the roads, pays taxes, serves the state in time of war, he is certainly entitled to representation. The question of deportation is another that is out of the question, because there is nowhere to send him to, and the negro is getting to be the best laborer we have, in the country.

"Never have I heard," said he, "such a rattle of hammers by white laborers in the north as I have heard by the negro workers of the south. It is the music of progress."

Another idea is the forming of black states, but nobody has been able to designate just what states are open to purchase for such a but nobody has been able to designate just what states are open to purchase for such a purpose. The speaker went on to tell how a prominent northern advocate of that plan when asked if they could buy New York? said no; Massachusetts? no; Maryland? no; Georgia, the empire state of the south? no; and finally was unable to say just what states could be purchased.

The question of distribution is as impractical, according to the lecturer's views, as deportation, as the negro will no more submit to distribution than the white man.

The solution of the question, according to his idea, is to treat the negro as a fellow-citizen, man and brother.

his idea, is to treat the negro as a fellow-citizen, man and brother.

The lecturer went on to illustrate how and why the colored man is capable of development. He told anecdote after anecdote of the devotion of the negro in war and in peace, and of his fidelity in keeping his word.

He quoted an expression of Senator Joseph E. Brown, who said recently, in talking to the speaker, that he was surprised to note the wonderful progress of the negro.

In speaking of the colored Baptists of America, he said that there were now about 1,300,000 colored Baptists in the United States, and if they are taken out of the camp the Baptist denomination will be about a third-rate church organization.

church organization.

The lecturer then showed how much has

church organization.

The lecturer then showed how much has been done for the education of white. Baptist children and how little for the blacks. One college, Brown university, in Providence, R. I., will quadruple the value of all the colored universities in the south.

He went on to speak of his scheme to build up a high school for colored people in Americus, and said that he had already faised about $13,000 for the purpose, many donations having come from prominent white men, and the remainder having come from the well-to-do colored people of that section, who are so extremely anxious to secure educational facilities for their children.

In the opinion of the speaker, higher education means better children.

In the opinion of the speaker, higher education means better citizenship, and a more intelligent understanding of the questions that are now being agitated, resulting finally in the uplifting of the negro, mentally, morally and socially, to a position where he will be better able to comprehend the exigencies of the case, and more willing to acquiesce in the plans that will lead to an amicable solution of the same.

W. C. T. U .- Special. All persons, whether members of the union or not, and gentlemen as well as ladies, who want to make a success of the city's entertainment of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union convention, are invited to assemble today at 3 p. m. in Trinity lecture rooms.

So say Leading Physicians and Druggists, and their opinion is indorsed by thousands cured by it of Scrofula, Eczema, Erysipelas, and other diseases of the blood.

"Ayer's Sarsaparilla has won its reputation by years of valuable service to the community. It is the best."—R. S. Lang, Druggist, 212 hierrimack st., Lowell, Mass. Dr. W. P. Wright, Paw Paw Ford, Tenn., says: "In my practice, I invariably prescribe Ayer's Sarsaparilla for chronic diseases of the blood."

Dr. R. R. Boyle, Third and Oxford sts., Philadelphia, Pa., writes: "For two years I have prescribed Ayer's Sarsaparilla in numerous instances, and I find it highly effecatious in the treatment of all disorders of the blood."

of the blood."

L. M. Robinson, Pharmacist, Sabina, O., certifies: "Ayer's Sarsaparilla has always been a great seller. My customers think there is no blood-purifier equal to it."

"For many years I was afflicted with scrofulous running sores, which, at last became so bad the doctors advised amputating one of my legs to save my life. I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla and soon saw an improvement. After using about two dozen bottles the sores were healed. I continue to take a few bottles of this medicine each year, for my blood, and am no longer troubled with sores. I have tried other reputed blood-purifiers, but none does so much good as Ayer's Sarsaparilla."—D. A. Robinson, Neal, Kansas. Don't fail to get

THE MARCH TERM, 1890, SUPREME COUNTY Uccfstons are printed in pumphlets, and be sent to any address upon receipt of $1.0. orders to W. J. CAMPRELL W. D. CAMPRELL

In an issue last week of the New York Tribune, the following was quoted from the Boston Advertiser:

I am sometimes amazed in passing the great ready-made clothing establishments to note how differently they are regarded than formerly. It was less than a generation ago that they were patronized almost exclusively by workingmen, mechanics and farmers who desired rough, cheaplymade clothing. Merchants, bankers, professional men in-variably left their measure with their tailors, and scorned what was familiarly termed "slop-made" clothing. But a demand arose for fine grades of ready-made clothing and the alert American manufacturer was ready to meet it. It was the old story of the relative cost of making one coat or of making 500. But there were men of peculiar shape who heretofore could be fitted only by the custom tailor. He was too tall, too fat. This difficulty was soon met and overcome, until today the ready-made dealer has for his customers that class of men who once scorned him.

And that explains why every sort and condition of man may be suited with Cloth-

The Missouri and Arkansas division of the St. Louis, Arkansas and Texas Railroad Company, commonly known as the "Cotton Belt." extending from Bird's Point, Mo., opposite Cairo, to Texarkana, Ark, was sold at public auction under a decree of the federal court, given last July to the Mercantile Trust Company of Yan Yark. It was nurchased by the pany, of New York. It was purchased by the pany, of New York. It was purchased by the reorganization committee, General Louis Fitzgerald, president of the former company, being the bidder, for $6,000,000. The Texas division will be sold under a similar decree at Waco, Tex., on Thursday, and will, no doubt, be bid in by the same parties. As soon as possible the company will be reorganized and taken out

On the Central Pacific railroad the cylinders of the lecomotive have been utilized to increase the supply of air to the brake. This is accomplished by reversing the locomotive rs to act as air compressors, driving large mes of air into the trainpipes and reserto accomplish this a pine is from the top of the steamhest safety valve, and thence to the airdram on the locomotive. The reverse lever is hooked about one notch back of the center for ordinary occasions. When a larger amount of air is required it is hooked still further back. This arrangement has been in use about one year, and shear that time there has been in

It is announced that active operations on the Charleston, Wilmington and Norfolk railroad will shortly commence. This, says The Norfolk Virginian, is the new line northern capitalists propose to construct between Norfolk and Charleston, S. C. The route has been saveyed the entire distance and rights-of-way have been obtained through much of the country to be traversed. Most of the money for the new enterprise will be put up by Boston capitalists. After work has commenced it is thought the road can be completed and in operation in a year's time.

A rumor has reached Milwaukee, founded mon the lest authority, which if correct, means the most gigantic express deal that has ever occurred in this country. It means the consolidation of the United States and the consolidation of the United States and the Adams Express Companies. For some time quiet runors have been circulated around among the ordicers and general agents of the Adams and the United Express Companies in the west that negotiations have been pending looking to a consolidation of these two companies. The runored consolidation is to be in the nature of the merging of the United States into the Adams by the transfer of stock, much as the St. Paul Company bought the Milwaukee and Northern railroad.

Railroad Notes. M. E. Ingalis recently remarked that the consolidation of railways would not end until all roads which are discurbing elements were in the control of the strong lines and made parts of such systems. He expressed the opinion that the Indian-polis, Decatur and Western, the Louisville, New Albany and Chicago and all road of this class would, within the next two years, be under the control of such roads as the Pennsylvania or the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy.

A convention of railroad clerks of the United States will be held in Cleveland, O., on October 19th, for the purpose of organizing the National Association of Railroad Clerks. Delegates are expected from Boston, Troy, Buffaio, Kansas City, St. Loais, Cairo, Ill., Detroit and several points in Terns.

It is rumered that the Michigan Central railroad intends constructing a tunnel under the Detroit river, between Courtright and St. Clair, and making the St. Clair branch the main line of the way.

It is said to be the intention of the Burlington Company to extend its road to the Pacific coast, and the terminus will probably be somewhere on Pugetsound. There is now a corps of engineers in the Blue mountain sof Oregon making a preliminary survey across the range in the interest of the Burlington teompany.

The Kansas City, Wyandotte and Northwestern road has grown tired of its experiment of maintaining a local passenger rate of 2 cents a mile, and has announced its intention of restoring the rate to 3 cents a mile.

The number of employees on all the railroads of the country amounts to 700,000. There are 1,518 different railroad corporations, and the total mileage of these railroads is 155,400 miles.

The Mississippi state convention has adopted an ordinance requiring railroad commissioners to be elected by the people.

Bids will be received for the second time for the erection of a new union, passenger depot at Raieigh, N. C., up to November 1st. Several trains were delayed yesterday on account of the rain storm, which seems to have extended all over the south.

Railroad Personals. P. M. Arthur, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, began railroading on the New York Central in 1852. After firing for two years he was given an engine, and remained in the service of the Central for twenty-two years. In 1874 he was elected grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, which office he has since held.

Mr. W. T. McAtes, a well-known conductor running between Nashville and Louisville, has been appointed deput matter of the Louisville and Nashville at Louisville.

Colonel Thomas Medill, general western agent of the Central of Georgia, with headquarters in Chicago, is in the city. Colonel Medill was for many years a resident of Atlanta, and has a host of friends in the city. He was here on Cleveland bay during the first exposition, when it rained. He came in yesterday, and it rained again. Maybe if he will come oftener it won't rain so hard.

Mr. A. C. Knapp, tra le manager of the Georgia Southern and Fforida railroad, is in the city. Mr. R. H. White, ticket agent of the Richmond and Danville at Spartanburg, S. C., is taking in the exposition.

A Chinese Raffway.

Amos W. Wright, in Harper's Weekly. There is now in operation in China between eighty and ninery miles of railroad, lying between the Kai-Ping collicries and Tien-Tsin, the nearest port to Peking. This line was commenced in 1881, to carry coal from the mines for a distance of seven miles to the head of a canal, which, for tapographical reasons, could not be brought nearer. Permission to build it had been asked of the authorities in vain several years before, and was only finally scenred by the declaration of the directors of the company that fliey must stop mining unless they obtained this means of transportation. Then leave was granted for the construction of a transway on the condition that only horses or mules should be used as motive power. It was a case of taking an ell where an inch had been given, and the English engineers went quietly to work to construct a locomotive out of such bits of iron and steel as they could gather. They succeeded in miking a machine that would rue, but had a soconer done so than they were prevented from putting on the finishing strokes. The tracks in the yard on which it was built were torn up and it was thrust into a shed, either for final retirement or to wait for better days. A few months afterward its completion was ventured upon, and, the government kindly withdrawing its scrutiny, the operation of the little road by steam began without official sanction.

The principal objection of the government to railroad enterprises, while admitting their usefulness, was that they would probably have to be managed by foreigners, who would thus obtain further minence in China. Experiments in a small way were subsequently made, showing that this could be avoided. Under a board of Chinese directors twenty-three mites were added to the Kai-Ping road, and afterward another section of sixty miles, bringing the line to Tien-Tsin. This road by steam began of the operation of themselves can control their corner of the kingdom, in an out-of-the-way nook, where the population is sparse, and popular projudices have least to be cont There is now in operation in China between eighty and ninety miles of railroad, lying between

The Railway Conductors.

The executive committee of the Independent Order of Railway Conductors has recently made a report of the aims and objects of the organization in the following words: 1. Honesty and fairness in our dealings with all. 2. Positively refusing to engage in a strike or giving it aid or sympathy. 3. Contributing to the relief of worthy conductors, their widows and orphans. 4. Defense of bother conductors, their wives and children. 5. Abstinence from the sale or traffic of intoxicating liquors. We believe conductors can have no sympathy with the disorder and lawlessness attending the methods of striking organizations. We hold it incumbent upon ourselves to perform all duties to our employers honestly, loyally and faithfully, giving the best possible services as the true basis for increased remuneration and advancement. We also owe a duty to the public which demands sacrifice of personal considerations, and under no possible circumstances can we assume the right to obstruct the business of the country or delay innocent travelers in order to right a personal grievance. We believe all violent attempts to secure favor or employment are unnecessary; the intelligence and wisdom of the conductivand offlicial of this age are sufficient to amicably and honorably adjust all differences, of whatever character or nature, in a just and reasonable manner.

The Day on the Floor of the New York Stock

Exchange. NEW YORK, October 22.—The stock market to day was somewhat of a surprise on account of the case with which prices were lifted on slight purchases. The great liquidation in Wall-street has driven stocks from the broker's offices into the hands of strong parties, making a searcity of long stocks in the street. This is now particularly noticeable upon any attempt to buy either by the buils or lears, and raids of the latter no longer bring out long stocks and small depressions caused by the raids are soon recovered. The market this morning opened quiet but strong, with favorable advances from London, and there were good buying orders in the market from many outside points, Chicago, Boston and even London taking their favorites to a limited extent. Larger also, who have been so bearish during the past two months, were working for a rise and offerings are being taken out with such ease, traders in general took a long side for a turn. Prices, therefore, on moderate business, played a strong tone, which cropped out in spots with special force, though movements were generally confined to small fractions. Delaware and Lackawana were leaders early, but their places were afterward taken by two grangers, blaces were afterward taken of the general Louisville and specialties. Sugar was specially weak throughout the day and strength in the general list was not sufficient to hold it, the passing of a dividend being made a special point by those who were working for lower prices, and difnt versions of reasons for action were circu lated with no influence for good uson the stock.

It was prominent in all reactions and its influence It was prominent in all reactions and its inducace was most prominent in the last hour, when a general reaction from the best prices of the day was made, induced by realizations. Among the specifities Mobile and Ohio was the only feature and the business of the day was principally on a dozen leading shares, the rest being comparatively neglected. The close was rather heavy, but still at fractionally better figures than the orening. Final changes are almost invaribly advances for small fractions. Sales of listed 218,-

NEW YORK, October 22.-Our market opened with some selling for foreign account, but what there was, was in small amounts and did not play much of a role, while the demand for stocks in the lean crowd showed that the short interest was still quite heavy, and when it was found that inspite of foreign selling, prices did not vield, a heavy covering movement set in, and the advance was continued by the bulls, which closed prices at about the highest of the day. There was no feature to the trading but the general harden ing of prices and a decidedly better feeling in consequence. The Villard stocks continued their ad vance and the grangers were strong, especially Chicago, Burlington and Quincey, in which a heavy short interest still exists. As yet there are heavy short interest still exists. As yet there are no indications of outside buying, and prices may react when the short interest has covered, but we do not believe we are to get much of a setback from this basis, and if yesterday's advance in rates in the northwest is an indication of the policy of railroad managers, there are more prosperous times ahead for railroad circles.

Hubbard, Price & Co.'s Circular. NEW YORK, October 22-[Special]—The Liverpool market this morning opened at an advance of 1-64d, lost it, recovered it and finally closed barely steady at about last night's prices. Spot sales 10,000 bales, and the larger business in this department gives evidence of rather more disposition on the part of spinners to secure their supplies of raw material as present prices. This market of raw material at present prices. This market has been rather more active. It opened at almost 1 point under last night's prices, but quickly im-proved, January selling at 10% during the fore-noon upon reports of frost at Augusta, Georgia, and many telegrams from the southwest and Misand many telegrams from the couthwest and Mississippi valley advising continuous rain for the last twenty-four hours. These reports were in many cases accompanied by buying orders of a substantial character, and a large amount of cotton has been bought today for southern account. It is evident that the sentiment prevailing throughout the cotton belt, which has thus far unmistakably favored the idea of a large yield, is commencing to change, and if reports continue as disappointing as they have been today this change will no doubt become more pronounced. Locally, most of the traders are committed by their operations to a belief in lower prices, and for this reason are disposed to decry any influences tending to advance prices, and the result of this tendency is seen in the easier closing of the market at a loss of about 4 points from the highest.

By Private Wire to Youngblood & Haas. NEW YORK, October 22-The market opened firm and advanced on the unfavorable weather south, accompanied by southern buying orders, but subsequently eased off in consequence of Liverpool closing barely steady. Under the present apprehensions of frost the market is nervous. We, for our part, believe it is getting rather late for any serious damage, even with a killing frost. for any serious damage, even with a killing frost, and see little reason for much damage under present circumstances. Should frost occur and the market advance thereon, we think it would be a good time to sell cotton. LEHMAN BROS.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Provisions.
CHICAGO, October 22—Wheat—Weaker, and while there was a good business in the aggregate, trading fell somewhat short of yesterday. The early weakness was attributed to the easier ton cable advices. There was a rumor that a weekly paper had estimated the crop of wheat much below other estimates, but the paper alluded to denied having made any recent figures. The later weakness was due to rather free selling. Opened 1/20 3/20 lower than yesterday's colsing, closing about 1/20 lower than yesterday. Corn—Quite active but rather unsettled, price changes being frequent within it range. Opened with free selling by longs at 1/2/4c decline, after which the market sold off another 1/4c when a sensational report of a local weekly came on the market making the crop less than 1,300,000,000 bushels in twelve states, and the market responded to the free buying which followed, and prices advanced ic, when the longs again unloaded, and decline of 1c was recorded, when the market ruled steady and closed with a loss of 1/2%c. Oats were fairly active and unsettled with frequent fluctuations within a narrow range. The market all through the session was nervous, and the final sales were at a net decline of 1/4@1/c.

Mess pork—Quite active. Opening at 221/4@15c decline it gradually advanced 17/4@20c, receded again 17%@20c, but toward the close railied 17%@20c and closed steady.

Lard-Comparatively dull. Ruled 21/205c lower and closed steady. Short ribs-Moderately active. The opening was 5@71/2c lower, but the demand was sufficient to advance prices 21/205c. Later a weaker feeling developed resulting in a decline of 5@71/4c. At the close rallied 5c and closed steady.

Haas. CHICAGO, October 22.-2.50 p. m.—The wheat market opened lower this morning, but hell a sharp advance from the opening. There was too much strength today for the news in hand. Later the bears scored an inning which was very much appreciated by those traders who have been following that side. A great portion of the selections of the selection of appreciated by those traders who have been following that side. A great portion of the sales today were on the realizing order. In wheat Bradstreet makes the amount east of the Rocky mountains increase 1,000,000 bushels. There being nothing extraordinary in the demand, and the pressure to sell being the greatest, prices declined. The closing found wheat slightly higher than the opening. Fluctuations were narrow. Do not see any reason to change our views of the past few days in regard to wheat.

In count the feeling was not so strong. Early there was a rumor that The Farmers' Review reported the corn crop as 1,300,000,000 bushels, but later it was ascertained, on reading the report, that he made it 12,029,000,000 bushels in twelve states. Although the crop is not as large as last year, still, with the reserves, it is a fair crop.

Private Wire Telegram to Youngblood &

Oats had a break, too, but they finally closed fairly steady, with most of the late advance saved. The feeling in oats is rather unsettled. A great many think that fancy prices are now being obtained, and in consequence a great many are not disposed to trade so heavily as they might. Unless something unforeseen occurs do not expect to see present prices maintained any length of time.

Provisions slumped today also, but in view of the price of corn and other grains, do not think provisions too high, although stocks are very large.
